Pre-anesthetic Blood Screening Owner Initials: _____

Your pet will be receiving general anesthesia; it is to be understood that anesthesia always carries some risk. Country Vet Service uses very safe anesthetic protocols and close patient monitoring. Despite these measures, there are times an animal may have an underlying problem which cannot be physically evident and that can put a pet at higher risk for anesthesia. Therefore, a pre-anesthetic blood screen is highly recommended, REQUIRED for pets 7 years of age and older, to insure that major organ functions are normal. This does not eliminate all anesthetic risk but provides us with a broader scope of your pet's organ function and helps rule-out many internal problems that could lead to complications. There is an additional fee of $75 for pre-anesthetic blood work.
